The Month of the Year is so special because it is the time in which the Greek Goddess Demeter celebrated her birthday (and yes, Demeter is that Demeter, Persephone's sister and mother of Persephone). In honor of her, I made Demeter's birthday cake. (My daughter is in full Demeter dress...doesn't she look very excited about her birthday?) I made the cake for my mother-in-law's birthday. She usually has a birthday party for her friends, but she didn't want to have one this year. She has been quite ill, and really is not up to having a party. So I made a cake with her favorite things on it (peach, raspberry, and strawberry). My mother-in-law ate it all by herself, and said it was the best cake she had eaten in a while. 2 comments: Christina, we have had 2 months of Christmas (Dec. & Jan.) in our house this year. I never was a big Christmas fan and did not put any decor up in December. I figured I'd be at my mom's all month of December so why bother? Plus I could save a lot of time and effort. Fast forward to December 29th. It was cold but warm enough in our house and I was starting to feel festive. Around this time I decided to do 2d92ce491b
